Almost Fatal.

A little three-year-old daughter of Sheriff D. W. Naill had a narrow escape from death Wednesday. Some meat had been poisoned and placed in the kitchen to kill rats. It was supposed that every piece had been gathered up. Some had, however, been left and the child finding it ate it. As soon as it was discovered Dr. King was called and prompt measures were taken to alleviate the illness of the sufferer who was now very sick. The treatment was successful and in afternoon the little one is resting easily and will Noble township criminals whose cases undoubtedly be entirely well in a day or two.

An Appropriate Surprise.

Tuesday a number of friends of Rev. H. Stowitts and wife, living four miles south of town, went out to make the couple a surprise. They did not go empty handed but were loaded down with presents of a practical and appropriate nature which went far toward putting Mr. and Mrs. S. in shape for the winter. Rev. Dr. Welsher made a brief presentation speech and assured the host and hostess of the high regard in which they are held by their Abilene friends. A few hours were spent in conversation and then with a parting prayer the visitors returned home, conscious of having performed a truly christian and charitable act for worthy recipients.

Harrison's Departure.

Abilene is about to lose one of her most esteemed business men, W. II. H. Bonebrake, who leaves in about ter days for a new field of labor.

Mr. Bonebrake came to Abilene it 1871, entering the store of his brother. J. E. Bonebrake, and has for seventeen years been in the same location and in the same business (hardware) without a break. He has probably as wide an acqualutance with the public at large as any man in the city and has madhosts of friends both in the city and through Central Kansas by his uni-formly businesslike methods and straightforward manners.

He goes next week to Little Rock. Ark., to accept a position in the large hardware establishment of Gitting & Porter, of which he will be general Farm rg in Kansas Pays.

If any one knows whether or not forming in Kansas pays, that gentleman ought to be Captain A. C. Pierce. He has been practicing the art in Davis county over twenty-five years, and has seen as many hot winds, sunflowers, grasshoppers, drouths and just as many excellent crops as most residents of the

It is true that Mr. Pierce has never gone wild over wheat nor become very enthusiastic about raising corn that has to be taken from five to fifteen miles and sold for 22 cents, but he has ever been striving to make Kansas farming conform to Kansas climate and soil. He has discovered one very important fact: That is, that it pays better to have his grass consumed by cattle than by the prairie fire. This year, with the ten cars of fat cattle and hogs already sold, his sales of fat stock will reach $15,000. This stock has grazed on his own pasture and has been fed on corn raised by himself. Mr. Pierce began feeding green corn to several loads the middle of August and recently sold them for top prices on the Kansas City markets. Captain Pierce has this year inaugurated a new practice in the history of cattle feeding in Kansas, or, we may say, in any State in the Union. This week 300 head of cattle were dehorned, and 100 were turned loose in his stables to be fed on ensilage and meal. And Mr. Pierce, by the way, says that no more horns grow on his farm. The siloes have been opened, and ensilage comes out green and sweet. Just contrast the common practice of getting July 6th, when they were taken there after a shock of corn two feet in the snow, which is to be thrown over the fence and half utilized, and the practice of feeding ensilage in a warm barn where 98 per cent. of your crop, as cu ie the original one and the allowing of from the field, is consumed. The farmer must take advantage of im proved methods. Captain Pierce has heretofore been raising most of his stock cattle, but has come to the conclusion that more cattle can be raised at less expense by buying them on the Kansas City market, and this practice he expects to follow. Mr. Pierce says he can testify that farming in Kansas pays .- [J. C. good cells, good food and healthy sur- Union.

J. G. HAMAKER & CO.

Was the first house in Abilene to inaugurate uniformly low prices on Dry Goods, and to keep prices down dur-ing periods of prosperity as well as in times of adversity. Many years of experience in making uniformly low prices has taught us that small profits and large sales will bring the most satisfactory results both to merchant and customer. The system having served us well, we shall continue it, and shall cut prices even lower than ever before. We have just stocks and find that we are overstocked in these lines. Now to reduce st ck promptly we have made further reductions in prices which undoubtedly brings our prices much below those of our neighbors. If you have the control of the co much below those of our neighbors. If you have a dress to buy, if you have blankets to buy, if you have underwear to buy-in fact, if you have any Dry Goods to buy of any decription look us over.
